Hon Daniel M. Fox,

Director, United States Mint,

Respected sir:-

I have recently learned that it is your intention to shortly have the marble work of your building cleaned, and as you have perhaps not quite forgotten me as once a scrivener in your office at 508 Walnut St., and the fact that my father (whose business at this time is rather dull) does this particular work, I have intruded to this extent to ask, that, if such is your expectancy you will kindly afford father an opportunity to estimate upon the work before committing yourself in any particular direction.

If I have been misguided in this connection I beg your pardon for occupying even so much of your valuable moments, and trust you will fully appreciate my motive.

With much respect I remain
